LPU Chancellor Dr. Ashok Kumar Mittal Pens Open Letter to U.S. President Opposing 50% Tariff on Indian Goods

Subject: An Open Letter to President Donald J. Trump: Partnership of Equals

Dear President Trump,

On August 6, 2025, your administration imposed an additional 25% tariff on Indian imports—raising the total to 50%—citing India's continued purchase of Russian oil. For two nations that have a long strategic, values-based partnership, this move is deeply disappointing.

India is a "dead economy," you said. Yet this "dead" economy is the 4th largest in the world, soon to be third, and remains the fastest growing among major nations. American companies generate $80+ billion annually from the Indian market across education, tech, finance, and IP. India's position as the third-largest air transport market holds deep strategic value for the U.S., with deals worth $2.45 billion signed in 2022 alone. The U.S. digital economy runs on code—much of it written in India.

It is also telling that your close ally, the European Union, recorded over €67.5 billion in trade with Russia last year, including record LNG imports, even as it calls for others to scale back. What is more surprising is that the United States continues to quietly import uranium, palladium as well as chemicals from Russia. Should a nation pressurize India against trade with Russia when it itself relies on the Kremlin for its domestic interests?

It is important to note that on this day, August 7, the Swadeshi Movement was launched in 1905—a powerful assertion of economic self-reliance against foreign control. If 146 crore Indians were to channel that spirit today and initiate a strategic restriction of U.S. businesses, the impact would be far more severe for the United States than for India.

Guided by the spirit of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam, we have stood by the U.S. But the future now lies in the hands of those who understand that diplomacy and cooperation are the way forward, not sweeping tariffs.

Mr. President, let us choose dialogue over discord, coordination over coercion. Let us shape the future - through respect, resolve, and renewed commitment to a rules-based global order.

Yours Sincerely,

(Dr. Ashok Kumar Mittal)
Founder-Chancellor of Lovely Professional University

In a bold and historic move, Hon'ble LPU Chancellor and Member of Parliament (Rajya Sabha), Dr. Ashok Kumar Mittal, has written an open letter to U.S. President Donald J. Trump, voicing strong opposition to the recent 50% tariff imposed by the U.S. administration on Indian goods.

Dr. Mittal's letter underscores the long-standing strategic partnership between India and the United States, expressing concern that such policies threaten the spirit of mutual respect and cooperation built over decades. He denounces the double standards in global trade, warning against protectionist measures that undermine fair competition and global economic stability.

Drawing upon India's rich history, Dr. Mittal invokes the Swadeshi Movement—a symbol of self-reliance and national dignity—as a reminder of India's resilience, innovation, and capacity to thrive despite external pressures.

The letter calls for a future shaped by dialogue over discord, and partnership over pressure, urging the U.S. to embrace a truly equal and respectful trade relationship with India.

By making this stand, Dr. Mittal not only defends India's economic self-respect but also reinforces the principle that international relations must rest on fairness, equity, and shared prosperity
